

Welcome to the PowerAutomation.net site,

I created this site so I can try to spark some interest for others in some of the projects I have created. Almost every project I have started was based on somebody else's site on the Internet I randomly found. I don't think I every would have tried building a CO2 laser from scratch without SAMS FAQ , Babbington waste oil burners with ideas from NYE thermodynamics , the CNC table I have been working on for almost 10 years from

CNC zone

, my high current disk launcher from sites like

Power Labs

, and to all those other sites I once visited but seem to have disappeared from publication.
